The Curtis Laws Wilson Library provides services and materials to support the university's academic programs. In addition to providing students with research resources and skills, the library is a place for collaborative learning. Spaces are technologically enabled, with resources such as the Nonavitra visualization wall, high performance computers, computer learning centers (CLC), and 3D scanner and printers.

In addition to a legacy print collection, the library provides strong online and full-text resources. Missouri S&T is a selective depository for United States government documents. The library receives a wide selection of materials from the Government Printing Office and other agencies. Through interlibrary loan, the Missouri S&T collection is supplemented by materials owned by other libraries throughout the United States.

The Curtis Laws Wilson Library is home to the Scholars' Mine, the university's online repository of scholarly contributions created by S&T faculty and students. The library provides support on campus for scholarly communications and related questions such as copyright and data management plans.

Librarians provide direct support and consultation with students and faculty. One-on-one research consultations are welcome, and librarians meet regularly with classes and student groups.

The Curtis Laws Wilson Library is Missouri S&T's gateway to the ever-expanding world of information. Students are encouraged to explore the library's homepage at http://library.mst.edu.
